

Ana Sanz Ph.D. Candidate Collaborator.

Ana Sanz-García is a predoctoral researcher in psychology at Complutense University of Madrid (UCM), hired in the Department of Personality, Assessment, and Clinical Psychology with a scholarship for University Teacher Training (FPU) funded by the Spanish Ministry of Science, Innovation, and Universities.

Previously, she worked as a counseling psychologist at the ANAR (Ayuda a Niños y Adolescentes en Riesgo/Help for Children and Adolescents at Risk) Foundation. She holds a master's degree in General Health Psychology, a master's degree in Clinical Psychology: Professional Practice, and a Diploma in Psychological Care for Victims of Terrorist Attacks, all of them from the UCM. Currently, she teaches psychology at UCM, and she is part of the UCM-validated research group "Intervention and treatment in clinical and health psychology", where she actively participates in the research line on psychopathological consequences of terrorist attacks and their treatment.

December 2024.