

Daniel Dodgen Ph.D. Prof. Member.

Daniel Dodgen, Ph.D., is the Senior Advisor for Strategy, Policy, Plans and Requirements with the Administration for Strategic Preparedness and Response at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). His expertise includes disaster preparedness & response, climate change, equity & inclusion, health system policy, behavioral health, and community resilience. Dr. Dodgen served as the Executive Director of the White House directed national advisory group on disaster mental health and has overseen the behavioral health response to multiple natural disasters, public health emergencies, and mass violence incidents. He was a lead author on the Special Report on the Impacts of Climate Change on Human Health, released by President Obama in 2016, and authored the first chapter on mental health and climate change in a federal report. Before joining HHS, Dr. Dodgen was Senior Legislative & Federal Affairs Officer at the American Psychological Association (APA) following an AAAS Fellowship with the U.S. House of Representatives. He received the American Psychological Association (APA) 2005 Early Career Award and was elected a Fellow of APA in 2012. He has served on the APA Board for the Advancement of Psychology in the Public Interest, the Board of Directors of the International Association of Applied Psychology and the Child Maltreatment Board of the Society for Child, Youth, and Family Services. In 2016, Dr. Dodgen was selected as a Harvard Kennedy School Senior Executive Fellow. He received his Bachelor's degrees in Spanish and Psychology at the University of Southern California and his M.A. and Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology at the University of Houston. He is a licensed clinical psychologist in Washington, DC and has been an active member of the IAAP Task Force on Terrorism and Peacebuilding since 2018.

December 2024

