

Johnrev Guilaran Ph.D. Prof.
Collaborator.

Johnrev Guilaran, PhD is an associate professor and a university scientist at the University of the Philippines Visayas. He has a PhD in Psychology from Massey University, Wellington under the New Zealand ASEAN Scholarships and an MA in Psychology (Clinical Psychology) from the University of the Philippines Diliman, Philippines. He trained in disaster mental health at the Hyogo Institute for Traumatic Stress in Kobe, Japan.

His scholarly interests focus on disaster mental health, social support, traumatic stress, and climate change psychology. He was a young scientist of the Integrated Research in Disaster Risk (IRDR). He is an editorial board member of the Journal of Traumatic Stress and an associate editor of the Philippine Journal of Psychology. Johnrev has been an active member of the IAAP Task Force on Terrorism and Peacebuilding since 2018.

December 2024

