International Psychology UN Postgraduate Fellowship Program

with concentrations in:

Human rights, Policy Development, and Global Humanitarian Relief

Applications accepted on a rolling basis

The ATOP Meaningfulworld team is excited to announce the launch of its new International Psychology UN Postgraduate fellowship program!

This year-long fellowship offers fellow's academic and experiential learning in international psychology. Fellows can choose from three concentrations within the program: human rights, humanitarian policy development, and global humanitarian relief. Fellows will explore the role mental health theories and policies play in these humanitarian tracks.

Fellows will have the opportunity to work with various ATOP committees and members. Fellows will engage in their own research, as well as participate in the organization's research projects. Additionally, fellows are required to participate in ATOP Meaningfulworld monthly workshops, weekly meetings at the United Nations, and humanitarian missions.

Eligibility:

Applicants must meet the following requirements:

1. Have a master's or doctoral degree in clinical psychology, counseling psychology, conflict resolution, social work, psychiatric nursing, medicine, law, or a related field. While applicants who have completed their degree will be given priority, students actively enrolled full-time in a master's or doctoral programs will be considered and encouraged to apply.
2. Have availability every Thursday to attend meetings at the United Nations and have availability one other day each week to work remotely.

3. Possess at least a basic knowledge of international psychology, and a dedication to humanitarianism.
4. Possess strong written and oral communication skills.
5. Have the ability to travel abroad, including possession of a valid passport.

How to apply:

Applications must include:

1. An updated curriculum vitae.
2. A transcript from the institution where you earned (or are earning) your highest degree.
3. A statement of interest not to exceed 500 words, that explains your interest in international psychology, global humanitarianism, human rights, refugees and migration, and policy development. Your statement should also include a description of what you hope to gain from this experience and which track you are interested in completing.
4. Three references: include contact and relationship information.

Write an email for your application to Dr. Kalayjian: drkalayjian@meaningfulworld.com

When one helps another, BOTH become stronger.
